ABOUT US

Planned Parenthood Advocates of Arizona (PPAA) is Planned Parenthood's advocacy arm in Arizona and the state's largest nonpartisan advocacy organization dedicated to protecting access to sexual and reproductive health care. PPAA is fighting for every person's freedom and right to make reproductive choices, enjoy sexual health and wellbeing, and build healthy, strong families by educating voters, public officials, and candidates for public office.

Legislative and Grassroots Advocacy

Each year, Arizonans face an unprecedented number of legislative bills aimed at reducing their reproductive health care access and freedom. The efforts of PPAA ensure that all Arizonans and their families have a voice in defending those rights. Our grassroots efforts are focused on helping all Arizonans gain fair and equal access to sexual and reproductive health rights, education, and medical services. PPAA educates and engages our grassroots network of activists, as well as voters, across the state on a variety of issues related to health and reproductive rights.

Electoral Engagement

We support government officials and candidates who share our belief that access to sexual and reproductive health care and information is critical to the well-being of all citizens, and support sexual and reproductive health care access and rights for all. PPAA works within the electoral process to support candidates and educate voters about reproductive health issues and candidates who support a person's access to health care.
